ITALIAN COFFEE WILL NOT BECOME UNESCO'S INTANGIBLE HERITAGE OF HUMANITY

No good news for the Italian Espresso Coffee to become Unesco's Intangible Heritage of Humanity. After a long journey characterized by many difficulties, the UN's body national commission has rejected the bid, which was entitled: "Italian espresso coffee in culture, rituals, society and literature in emblematic communities from Venice to Naples". However, the panel said the Italian 'art of opera' would go forward as candidate to present to the Unesco intergovernmental committee for the 2023 cycle.

INSECT FLOUR, THE FIRST CHIPS MADE IN ITALY LAUNCHED ON THE MARKET

For quite some time, the consumption of insects (and their derived products, like flour) has been considered as a potential dietary solution for the future. And for this reason, Fucibo, the Italian company which specializes in the segment, has decided to launch a line of chips made in Italy produced with insects that have been authorized by the European Community. The product consists of extruded corn chips cooked in the oven, which entails insect flour with the objective of lower the fats' content and make the snack richer in proteins. At the moment, the available flavors are pizza and cheese.

ADVENT TAKES CONTROL OF IRCA, ITALIAN DESSERT INGREDIENTS PRODUCER

Advent International won auction for control of Irca, the Italian company based north-west of Milan, leader in the B2B production of chocolate, creams, ingredients and semi-finished products for confectionery, bakery and ice cream. Carlyle had put Irca on sale at the end of 2021. The US private equity operator Advent International was awarded the deal, based on a valuation of over 1 billion euros, in line with expectations.

DHAARA BAROLO

Dhaara Barolo is the epitome of a true sensory experience. Produced with 100% Nebbiolo grapes grown in the villages of the Barolo DOCG area, the Dhaara Barolo is fermented in stainless steel at a controlled temperature of 28-30°C, before completing a maceration process on the skins for 12 days with daily pumping of the must over the cap. The wine is then aged in casks of Slavonian oaks and refined in the bottle. The result is a sophisticated wine, with an intense bouquet of spices and dried flowers, complemented by a smooth and mouth-filling taste.
